

Getting Started

Local people solving local problems are the cornerstone of the RC&D movement. In order to keep it simple we only ask that you email us your project idea. What do you have in mind? What help do you need to be successful? What benefits do you see as a result of the project? Of course we'll also need some contact information and general location of the proposed project.

Share as much detail as you have and we'll follow up with you to determine how best to proceed.
